REPORT ON ALUMNI LECTURE

The Department of French, Tagore Government Arts and Science College organized a lecture on "Literary Translation" by a renowned alumni of the college Dr. Vengada Soupraya Nayagar, Associate Professor of French at Kanchi Mamunivar Postgraduate Institute on 27th of March in Room no. 1, Maths Department from 3:30-4:30 PM.

The lecture focussed on the professional journey of Dr. Naygar from being a student in Tagore Arts College from 1982-1987 during his B.A and M.A degree to becoming a Professor of French and a professional literary translator. He shared with the students the linguistic process of translating French novels into Tamil. He particularly discussed his translation choices and techniques of rendering the famous novels by French authors like Albert Camus and Tahar Ben Jelloun namely La Peste, Le Mariage de plaisir into Tamil. His Tamil Translations have been awarded the prestigious Romain Rolland Prize.

It was an interactive session, students asked questions about the career in Translation and the opportunities in the field of French. The session was attended by 50 students comprising.

Thanking you
